Only Minor 'Slight' Gains Made Says Paris

Nazi Attack Is Most Severe In Peronne Region

Germans Using No Less Than 1,000 Tanks In That Area Alone

ONLY SLIGHT GAINS MADE SAY FRENCH

New Methods In Meeting Tank Attacks Are In Use By French

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 7.—German forces have driven a spearhead across the Bresle river south of Abbeville, authoritative military quarters in London admitted late this afternoon.

Otherwise, it was said, the French Weygand line is holding.

PARIS, June 7.—Despite murderous French defensive fire and the loss of about 400 of their 2,000 tanks, German troops once more launched a gigantic assault today on the 110-mile front from the coast to the region of Soissons.

The renewed Nazi offensive was particularly severe in the Peronne region, east of Amiens. In that sector alone, French authorities estimated, the Germans were using no less than 1,000 tanks against the French defenses.

French authorities asserted the Germans were "recklessly disregarding material and lives" in their effort to pierce towards Paris.

Ringneck pheasant which apparently is unafraid of dogs and humans strolled leasurely through Fairmont avenue yards yesterday. Another ringneck was seen on the East Brook-Volant road and also a "stuffed" ringneck on top of a sign on the Highland-East Brook road.

Now is the time of year when the man who is too lazy to haul his rubbish to a city dump packs it into a basket or bag and hurls it from an automobile in some pretty section of the country. It is a practice that no one can appreciate.

Many a New Castle youngster, and a few oldsters as well, had a hard time sleeping last night, after exposing themselves to the hot rays of yesterday's sun while bathing. Pa Newc saw several beautiful cases. Tiny tots who were put in their sun suits and allowed to get out into the sun too long, were among the victims. Folks should be very careful about this, health authorities warn, as a severe case of sunburn is just as bad as being burned badly by fire.

Knickerbocker Gives Graphic Picture Of Destruction From Visit Of Bombers And Tanks

(Editor's Note: The following dispatch from the battlefield in France paints a graphic picture of the desolation and destruction wrought by German dive bombers and tanks as it appeared to H. R. Knickerbocker, International News Service's ace war correspondent.)

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY ON THE BATTLE FRONT, June 7.—Our observation post overlooked a good 12 miles of the German front and gave us a clear picture of the havoc following in the wake of the German march.

All around was desolation. Wherever the Germans have come within gunshot in this war, they have left hardly one stone upon another.

To get to this observation post, we had to thread our way through the ruins of a town so badly wrecked it might have been struck by an earthquake plus a tornado. Yet the Germans had not reached it. They had only shelled and bombed it in a somewhat casual manner.

Wastage Abhorrent

Nothing is more impressively abhorrent in war than its wastage of all that men have struggled and toiled to create. Suddenly, in a few weeks invading forces crashing into France have wiped out the results of generations of labor.

Look at this row of dwellings and shops. Or rather, what used to be dwellings and shops. They all belonged to "little people". They represnted, each of them, a lifetime's hard work. They lie now—gutted.

Their most intimate rooms are exposed to the glance of strangers.

New German Raids Along English Coast

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 7.—Widespread new German air raids along the eastern and southern coasts of England last night and this morning cost the life of one British airman, killed when a Royal Air Force airdrome was bombed, according to an air ministry announcement.

In other places, the damage was small with only two minor casualties reported. Air raid alarms were sounded over the entire eastern coastal region, air raid precautions workers and fire fighters standing by for as long as three hours in some cases.

Raids Preliminary

But official sources saw in the widespread use of parachute flares an indication that the German bombers were engaged more in photographic reconnaissance than in actual demolition bombing and thought the raids might have been merely a preliminary to a gigantic main show later on.

Unofficial reports claimed that one of the Nazi bombers was shot down.

New Air Raid In Paris Zone

Large Number Of Planes In Battle In Air Near Paris

(International News Service)

PARIS, June 7.—A new German air invasion of the Paris zone in which large numbers of bomber and pursuit aircraft were engaged sent residents of the French capital scurrying for cover early today.

The Paris sirens sounded the alarm at 5:11 a. m. (12:11 a. m. EDT) when the Nazi air fleet entered the alert zone from the north at Senlis about 20 miles from Paris. Brief and distant anti-aircraft fire could be heard.

Swinging westward, the Nazi raiders turned away from Paris and went on to Mantes which appeared to be their objective.

While there was as yet no report of bombings, it was plainly apparent that a wild aerial battle was in progress over the Paris area. The whine and snarl of whirling planes could be heard plainly in Paris streets.

The all-clear signal was given in Paris at 5:44 a. m.

Treasury Department Acts To Halt Securities Being Unloaded By Germany

Customs officers and postal employees at all parts in the United State were instructed to be on the lookout for any incoming securities "or evidence thereof" and immediately turn them over to a federal reserve bank.

Treasury experts explained that the ruling was aimed particularly at securities held in Holland, Belgium, Norway, Denmark and Luxembourg, although the order applied to all countries. In effect, the order will prevent Germany from selling in this country securities seized during Nazi conquests, treasury officials said.

Material Aid To Be Speeded

Allies Stress Need Of Speed In Production Of Allied Orders

MUCH MATERIAL NEEDED BY ALLIES

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International New Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON June 7—Reports indicating willingness of the United States to accelerate material aid to the allies were received with delight today by authoritative quarters in London.

During the past few days these sources have stressed with increasing emphasis that the material needs of the allies are a matter of extreme urgency.

(Editor's note: The United States Navy yesterday took action permitting transfer of 90 of its first line scout bomber planes to be made available to the allies.

NEED IS URGENT

Both William C. Bullitt and Joseph P. Kennedy, American ambassadors to Paris and London, have been made plainly aware of this need.

In all their conversations with the two envoys, leading French and British officials have not hesitated to underline the possible grim consequences of the Flanders disaster to the allies in the light of the material losses suffered on those blood soaked battle fields.

Bullitt and Kennedy have been told that material of virtually every kind is needed—particularly planes, tanks and ammunition.

Above all, the allied authorities have stressed such material must arrive quickly if it is to serve any purpose in the present critical hour.

It was frankly admitted during the conversations that the previous allied administrations wasted much time in procurement of materials, but the allied spokesmen now insist that British has given the "all out" signal.

NEW GERMAN RAIDS ALONG ENGLISH COAST

at the Yorkshire countryside, it was reported. Several explosive bombs were dropped on farms, shattering cottage windows and greenhouses. Huge bomb craters were reported by several farmers.

Searchlight and anti-aircraft batteries were in action, throughout the raid.

British Communique

A communique issued jointly by the air and home security ministries stated:

"Enemy aircraft crossed the east and south coasts at many points and carried out a series of raids over widespread areas. Warnings in several districts lasted three hours before all clear signals were given.

"Anti-aircraft batteries went into action and fighter aircraft were sent up.

"A number of high explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped. Some fell on a town in Lincolnshire. There were two minor casualties but little material damage so far as is known.

"Many other bombs fell in the open country. Some of them may have been directed at airdromes."

Two workmen were injured seriously enough to require hospital treatment by the bombs that fell in Lincolnshire.

The warnings ranged from Yorkshire to the south coast and also covered the north midlands.

Heavy British aerial attacks on German positions in northern France, Belgium, Holland and the Reich itself were announced by the air ministry. These attacks were directed against German troop concentrations behind the front, freight yards and oil tanks at Hamburg and in the Ruhr, railway junctions and similar objectives.

A late air ministry communique said British bombers were continually harassing the second phase of the German offensive with a "series of attacks on mechanized units, troop concentrations and lines of communication behind the German battlefront."

KNICKERBOCKER GIVES GRAPHIC PICTURE OF DESTRUCTION BY NAZI

Their most precious belongings are scattered in the street. There's baby's album, in which some loving mother pasted strands of her first-born's hair, for beside it were sentences in French saying:

"This was our first and best beloved Jean Christophe."

There are toys, books and endless stacks of papers. Every kind of letter, pages torn from business ledgers and newspapers.

Streets Garbage Heaps

The streets of this town from one end to the other are now garbage heaps of its inhabitants' possessions.

Curiously enough, this like many another town shattered under the shock of Hitler's armies suffered exactly this fate in the last war. Twenty years ago, this community was obliterated. It took the population 20 years to build again the careful, neat little homes, only to have them destroyed once more by the same enemy.

Halfway through the village, the officer in charge warned us:

"Now, here we must skip across quickly. Les boches can see us plainly, and if you linger he will give you something to remember him by."

We skipped according to protocol.

Safely esconced behind the remnants of a brick wall, we gazed across to where, behind a broken bridge, our officers told us, les boches were stationed. They never stirred for my scrutiny, though one officer claimed he saw three figures flit across the street in another wrecked village in the German lines opposite.

Defenses Are Complete

It is not permissable to describe any defenses in detail, sufficiently for them to be recognized. But I can say that the French have laid down every conceivable obstacle to the German advance.

Most impressive is the fact that every post of command, every staff headquarters which in the old warfare were guarded chiefly by second line reservists, are now fortified against surprise by parachutists or flying tank columns.

One stout old colonel in command of one such post swung a heavy stick as he told us he had three sons in the army. His was a Falstaffian figure as he cut circles with the stick and brought it down on the head of an imaginary enemy. He exclaimed:

"I'd like to do this to les boches. My men—'hey', he called to a group of them—they die perhaps, but they never retreat.

"We've lost 60 dead so far. But not one single prisoner."

On this sojourn with the French army I have met an interesting figure who, surprisingly enough, was able to throw new light on the baffling problem of King Leopold of the Belgians.

Tells of Leopold

I can't say where I met this gentleman. He had just returned from Belgium, having succeeded in getting out of the trap built by the Germans just six hours before it closed on his comrades. He had been in close contact with Leopold, saw him every day.

"My explanation for Leopold's conduct is that he was a very poor sort of a man, a very wretched man, indeed, hardly a man at all," he said.

"Yes, you may say I said so. I've seldom seen such a poor creature. Every morning he'd climb out of bed, totter to the door and look at the sky to see if any airplanes were about. If there were any, he wouldn't wait even to see if they were friend or foe, but would rush to take shelter.

"Just Fear"

"The allied staff once asked him to make a radio broadcast. I was there. He just put his head in his hands, shook it mournfully and muttered: 'Perhaps.'

"But the thing that finished him, I think, was this: He went down to the railway station in Brussels one day to see off a trainload of refugees. Only a few hour later, the Germans bombed the train, killing every soul on it.

"I suppose there were four or five hundred on the train. The German bombs literally made soup of them.

"When this was reported to Leopold, he collapsed. It terrified him so badly he never got over it.

"I suppose that's the whole answer to Leopold—just fear.

"They call Leopold the 'king of the fifth column' around here now."

NO WAR MACHINE TOOLS FOR JAPAN

THE speedy accomplishment of the airplane-building program, which is a vital part of this Nation's preparedness plans, depends in large measure upon the capacity of the machine tool industry to produce the needed equipment. Tools are basic essentials in building war machines; the shortage of them has been blamed for repeated bottlenecks in aircraft engine production.

The embargo clamped by the government upon the export of machine tools is a proper move to step up the defense program. The fact that the ban will strike a particularly hard blow at Japan is hardly a matter for alarm.

The Japanese have increasingly relied upon American-made machinery and machine tools. In four years their imports of American power-driven metal working machinery jumped from $3,300,000 to $24,578,000 in 1939. Included in the list were such tools as lathes, drills, grinders, threaders, planers, shapers and gear cutters.

The United States has need of these tools if it is to turn out the 50,000 planes projected for its own use and promptly supply the Allies with ordered aircraft. It is only prudent to stop the stream of machine tools to Japan and make use of them, where necessary, here at home.

AMERICANS WILL SUMMER IN U. S.

The summer season is all but upon a sweltering populace. Schools have closed, winter clothing is being laid aside in moth balls, boats are being painted and put in the water, screens are being repaired and installed, fishing tackle and other paraphernalia of sports are being repaired or replaced—in short, summer's preparations and anticipations are upon us.

There is a certain sadness—yes, and thankfulness, too—in all of this, when one considers what sort of summer this is liable to be in Europe. Yet life in the United States and in other countries spared war's horror must and will go on. It is clear that this summer life will be lived within these borders. There will be some vacationists who go to Canada, some who seek relaxation on cruises in coastal or Caribbean waters. But most Americans will remain at home—that is, within a home where there is almost illimitable space for roaming, exploration and vacationing in far and unfamiliar places.

Travel is one of the nation's largest industries. The United States Travel Bureau estimates that for 1940 there will be a gross turnover of $6,000,000,000 for domestic travel expenditures within the United States.

WAR HORSE OF THE AIR

Every week of the war now is fixing in the fighting picture the exact place of the plane. At the outset of the contest its most commonly accepted function was expected to be its employment in bombing forays on city populations.

There has been much of that, but the plane has put on a more effectual military performance at the fighting front than anyone foresaw, or foreseeing, forecast. The plane has been most deadly in machine gunning the heads of advancing infantry columns. In that respect it has become as intimate an arm in conflict as the bayonet.

Next in the order of deadliness has been work of the bombers, but in bombing they have been far more effectual at sea, or along the sea, as at the embarkation at Dunkerque, than in land engagements. While the facts about cannon-carrying planes are few as yet, in grapples between plane and plane, this equipment appears to be devastating.

Although the use of the plane in putting men behind the enemy line from parachutes, because the feat is so spectacular, has attracted most attention to the warplane in the last month, the employment of the plane in this way is probably not a permanent part of regulation military maneuvers.

SOFTBALL MEETS REAL NEED

A widespread American yearning in summertime is to engage in the walloping of a ball with a bat and in running around bases, meanwhile emitting hoarse whoops of triumph and derision. Even with the war in Europe the yen to play exists unabated; during the last war American troops staged games not far behind the front. This activity used to be called baseball and the standard descriptive phrase was "the national game." A considerable part of it now goes on as softball and it may be this variety will finally supersede the original national game.

For the skilled practitioner of baseball, thought of softball winning out is grim, gruesome, tragic and horrifying. He knows the thrill of digging his spikes into the dirt and coiling up for that lightning moment of decision whether to step and swing, disdain the pitch or dive from the path of the pitcher's high, hard one. He has made bare-hand stabs at red-hot drives that split any but a calloused palm. An incalculable part of baseball's charm to him is mastery over the ball's rocklike hardness and cannon velocity.

But this very spice of danger has always stood in the way of baseball's universal adoption by sport lovers. The lad who never had the right opportunity to practice snatching the horsehide from its rocket course or standing up to the fearsome slants of a free-wheeling pitcher felt properly terrified when invited into an occasional game. A more humane variety of baseball was needed for the annual office outing, the church picnic, the fireman's charity tussle.

That is the special virtue of softball. The pitcher, delivering underhand, can hurl a crafty twist, but he is not wielding a thunderbolt. The batter may buffet the ball with mighty vigor, but he'll not knock the legs from under an infielder the way Babe Ruth once felled Eddie Collins with an invisible line drive. The ordinary unskilled outing participant may lay down his sandwich and venture onto the diamond without fear of never seeing his loved ones again. Far from indicating that the American male is losing his taste for violent exercise, the switch to softball shows he is more eager than ever to participate. Also that he is acquiring a commendable sense of prudence.

That sudden dip of the earth the other day, as if it had hit an air pocket, was caused by McNutt throwing the weight of his support to the president.

Nazi bombers who can tell the tonnage of the ships they hit are very good indeed, but there are those who rather lean to the Japanese flyers who used to bomb Chinese airfields and count the number of planes they destroyed without even going into second gear.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

BABY NEEDS STORIES

AT HOME and school, story reading is gradually displacing story telling. Time was, when great emphasis was placed on story telling in the training of children's librarians and teachers of kindergarten and primary children. Twenty-five years ago, story reading was never mentioned in pedagogical literature. Today, reading to babies and young children is given a rapidly growing place both in theory and practice.

So far as I can ascertain, I put in print the first plea in the United States for story reading in preference to story telling, especially in the home. It appeared in my book, "The Learner and His Attitude," 1925. Continually, since then, I have in various books, magazine articles and in this column, as well as from the public platform, been hammering on the same idea. Perhaps I have had a little share in the present trend toward reading to young children.

Either reading or telling stories to the young child stimulates his imagination, cultivates habits of sustained attention (concentration) and affords the youngster a vast deal of knowledge, pleasure and ease of expression. While I have always believed that story-telling has great value, it hardly compares in worth, especially in the home, to story reading.

And Here's Why

Reading to the baby and young child at home is superior to telling stories to him, as a rule, because:

1. The baby will listen at an earlier age to materials read from a page which illustrates this material than to what is told to him. Unawares, he will absorb what he hears as he looks at a picture related to it. Gradually, he will learn to listen without the aid of the picture.

2. At best, only a few babies and children can have stories told to them. Few adults can tell stories well. Few even suppose they can at all. Almost any parent, grandparent, maid, other adult or older child can read to the little tyke. Virtually every baby and young child may be read to.

3. Since any member of the family may read to the baby and young child, see how much wider is the family companionship possible. See how the nervous, weary mother might be relieved when the father or another family member reads to the baby.

4. A story read from a well-selected source has superior language, as a rule, to the story told and the child hears the same words, phrases and sentences over and over in exactly the same way. School children who had been read to from early baby-hood, at home, excel in oral English.

Ready To Read

Merely tell stories to the baby and young child and he associates the story with you, its source. Read to him, and he connects the story with the book as the origin. You make him long for the time when he can read from the book alone. Most of his school learning will be from reading books.

As we read to the baby and young child, the book which has his favorite stories becomes a kind of precious personality. He handles it with affectionate care.

I have witnessed a good deal of story reading to young children at school in various parts of the United States. During public forums with kindergarten and primary teachers in places as widely separted as Salt Lake City, Nashville, and Detroit, recently, I have learned of story reading at school. Furthermore, I have witnessed some very effective reading by teachers to children in the upper elementary grades, junior and senior high school.

If you would like to receive a list of books for reading to the baby and young child, write me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

CONTRAST

Outside my window I can see
A mourning dove upon her nest,
Safe sheltered in a cedar tree,
Her eggs beneath her feathered breast.

Patient and placid there she stays
Though all the world is terror-wrung,
Waiting the passing of the days
When she will see her pretty young.

And naught to her, I think, is hate
And naught to her are tangled wire
Or mammoth vans of armor plate
Or britzkrieg hours of cannon fire.

Hers is a life of gentler things,
Of mate and nests and cedar trees
And the soft warmth of feather wings
And young doves are her victories.

HOW THEY DID IT

It was a lovely evening in June. Two young lovers, sitting on the porch of a country home, were content and happy with life and with each other. The boy was listening to a cricket up in a tree and the girl was listening to the choir practicing in a nearby church. After a while, the girl, liking the song the choir was singing, exclaimed: "Ain't that beautiful!"

The boy, thinking she was talking about the cricket answered: "And you know they make all that noise just by rubbing their hind legs together."

The girl almost fainted.

Said a grouchy customer: "Say, waiter, this steak isn't very tender." Tired waiter replied, "Well, did you expect it to put it's arm around your neck and kiss you?"

If there is one place nowdays when people should be careful, it is when they are crossing streets and walking on roads, where automobiles whiz by. There are people who go walking along with a look on their faces that looks as if they were thinking "just run into me if you dare." And some don't have any look at all on their faces.

"Com-pa-nee, atten-shun!" bawled the drill sergeant to the awkward squad. "Com-pa-nee, lift up your left leg and hold it straight in front of you!"

By mistake, one rookie held up his right leg, which brought it out next to his neighbor's left leg.

"Aw right, aw right; who's the wise guy over there holding up both legs?" shouted the hard-boiled sergeant.

NOT ANGRY

The teacher was trying to instil a new spirit in the school and decided to give up corporal punishment. The day after the new rule went into effect she had trouble with one of the pupils and instead of walloping him sent him home with this note to the boy's father:

"Dear Sir: Your John is disobedient and quarrelsome, disturbs others in the class and uses profane language. He needs a good licking."

Next day the teacher got this note back:

"Dear Teacher: Wallop John yourself, we ain't mad at him."

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

This afternoon I went with Miriam (in her late teens) to buy a hat and she made her choice after viewing it on herself in a small mirror atop one of those dressing table effects now scattered about the hat shops. As a result Miriam, even with the aid of a hand-mirror, saw herself only down to her shoulder-blades. After I had persuaded her to go to a full-length winged mirror showing her the full length of her front, profile and back, she reconsidered her decision, realizing that the hat she was trying on was out of proportion to her full silhouette and did not harmonize with her entire ensemble.

Girls profiting by this hint will learn why a plump figure requires moderate upturned hats with irregular lines in the brim, and rather high crowns; why a thin figure demands hats of average size with low crowns, and drooping brims and why large waists and hips forbid small hats.

Readers' Questions Answered

Question: I am 18 and about to go to my first formal dinner. Please tell me when I should remove my gloves. How shall I know who will escort me to the table?—Esther.

Answer: Wear your gloves and take them off at the table. The hostess will present to you the man who will escort you to dinner. When he arrives he will be handed an envelope containing a card on which your name will be written. This is how such procedure is followed at a formal dinner.

Question: In presenting corsages at a shower, should I give them to the honor guests upon their arrival or should they be put on the dining table at each one's place?—Charlotte.

Answer: They may be presented either when the guests arrive or they may be put at the guests' places at the table. The latter is the usual custom.

WELLINGTON HONORED

Shortly after the battle of Waterloo, the Duke of Wellington, who commanded the victorious British army in that historic fray, was passing through the parade grounds and heard a subordinate refer to himself as "Wellington". The old soldier stopped, told the young officer that he should not speak so familiarly of the commander of the forces.

"I beg your pardon, your grace," the young man said, "but I never heard of any prefix to the name of Hannibal, Caesar, Temerlane or Napoleon, and I treated your name with similar honor."

A lady visitor, wishing to be polite to the little son of her host at table said: "What a pretty dimple you have, Benny!" "You think that's a pretty dimple" said the boy. "Mama, can I show the lady the one on my stomach?"

We observed a chap in the park the other day going around with one of those pointed sticks spearing scraps of paper and putting them in a bag he carried.

A kindly old lady also watched the man. Finally she addressed him.

"Don't you find that going around jabbing that way is very tiring?" she asked.

"Not at all lady," he replied courteously. "I come from a family of whale harpooners."

"What? Why you only wanted 75 cents at the hotel."

"But you've been heading in the wrong direction."

Air Experts Are Not In Accord, Don't Agree On Nation's Defense; Williams And Farley In Debate

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

SPEAKERS at the recent Washington banquet of the National Aviation Forum were not overly in agreement.

Major Al Williams, former naval air expert, was extremely critical of President Roosevelt's air policy, which, he says, leaves the country's aviation at a dangerously low ebb in the present world emergency. Postmaster General James A. Farley took the attitude that the administration has done all that reasonably could have been expected of it.

Williams also urged the creation of an independent aeronautical bureau—virtually a cabinet department.

Army and navy men generally object to an independent status for military and naval aviation. They are favorable to the promotion of flying by land and sea forces, but are of the opinion that it should be done under the auspices of the big departments. Major Williams, an ex-naval flyer, is an exception, but it will be noticed that he's an "ex." He's an "ace," also.

Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York is an independent of his own kind.

The Little Flower

The "Little Flower" is as good an aviator as anyone and emphatically practical. He served with the American air force on the Italian front during the period of Uncle Sam's participation in the last World war. From all accounts he shot down as many enemy planes as anybody else. However, his story is that he never went up in his crate of that period without deep misgivings. "I don't think I'm much of a hero," he once told me.

I've seen plenty of his comrades in arms who tell quite a different story. La Guardia disagrees with Williams in this respect:

Williams' reasoning is that a separte air arm is needed in order to build up its efficiency, which he argues that the army and navy departments have failed to do.

La Guardia doesn't dispute that aviation needs to be built up, but he contends that it is in such bad shape already that it can't be put in satisfactory operation in time to meet needs of today.

There was a considerable tendency to blame politics for the service's backwardness.

What's The Use?

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THOSE "INTELLIGENCE MEN."

It is said today frequently by newspaper commentators that English statesmen did not expect Germany to do what it has done; that they rather scorned Hitler's threats of a Lightning War. If this is true, it is amazing.

Every nation has its Intelligence Office and from that office "spies," if you will, are sent to live in foreign countries and themselves hire other spies in order to learn from the officials of that particular nation just what is going on. Great Britain has always maintained such an Intelligence Office and certainly if intelligent men were employed for the work in hand, they would have been able to convey to the Intelligence Office the news that Germany was building thousands of airplanes; that they were drilling thousands of pilots and mechanics; that they were building great armoured cars, not by the hundreds but by the thousands, and drilling men to operate those cars and to use, intelligently, ammunition furnished for those cars; that they were drilling the young men and young women of the nation in the arts of war, so that they would command an army not of one million but of ten million soldiers. In other words, what have the Intelligence men of Great Britain been doing during the last five years? They have been very much asleep. Have they been so stupid that they could not see with their own eyes, without penetrating into the records of the German officials just what has been going on, or were the officials of the British Empire so stupid as not to take warning?

Colonel Lindbergh was entertained in a very remarkable way by Hitler and his associates. He was permitted to see a great deal of the work being done by Germany in building airplanes and drilling military pilots and mechanics. Lindbergh came back and told the world that Germany had the greatest air force known, thoroughly drilled and equipped and that they had planes that could travel so many miles per hour and could reach so high a ceiling. Lindbergh, I rather thought, spilled the beans and I wondered that he was permitted to say so much, yet no one paid much attention to what Lindbergh said. We, the people of the United States, did not. We boo-hooed Lindbergh for accepting a decoration from Hitler and so did Englishmen. In other words, while nothing was said publicly, there was a tendency to belittle the Colonel and the Colonel's warning.

It was all plain stupidity and simply amazing in the light of what is happening today overseas.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

Lagging Behind

Washington, June 7.

IT does seem that in Washington at the moment we are having a fine example of leadership from the rear. In this business of national defense, Administration leaders are not out in front. On the contrary, they have lagged behind public sentiment and are still lagging.

QUITE clearly, they have underestimated both the sense and the character of the American people. It is not surprising that those in best position to observe are perturbed. Take, for instance, the President's record on three vital phases of the program—first, the size of the defense appropriation; second, the question of taxes; third, the question of economy. It is the simple truth that on all these he has been prodded from an unsound position to the sound position. The facts speak for themselves.

FOR example, in his first message, three weeks ago, misguessing the feeling of the people, Mr. Roosevelt asked only $1,185,000,000 for defense. To reach that figure he severely slashed the army figures. After 10 days, in which the inadequacy of this amount was daily pointed out, he made a request for an additional billion. It should have been included in the first request. The President knew the necessity, but was afraid "the country would not stand for it." It was a complete miscalculation. The country would have stood for twice that much.

SIMILAR poor judgment was shown in the matter of taxes. Unwilling to increase taxes ahead of the election, Mr. Roosevelt at first declared that the main thing was to get the money. The problem of paying the bill could, he said, be taken up later. Public sentiment and members of Congress compelled him to change his position. Today he is supporting an inadequate tax bill horizontally increasing rates 10 per cent, which he did not recommend or conceive. On taxes he is not only following public opinion but following Congress.

IT has been the same way on economy. Until Monday, Mr. Roosevelt had not even hinted at any effort to reduce governmental expenditures. Actually, he had expressed the hope that none of the New Deal activities would be curtailed and the belief that no curtailment was necessary. But, within the last two weeks a strong sentiment for accompanying increased taxes with decreased spending has been voiced in many editorials and by various speakers. Senator Byrd's resolution proposing a 10 per cent. horizontal slice in all government expenditures, except for defense and debt, struck a popular chord and had sufficient force behind it to make its passage probable.

THEN—and not until then—did the President show even a trace of interest in the subject. On Monday, after the Byrd proposal had been widely commended as obviously sensible and essential, the President authorized his secretary to announce that he had taken up with the Budget Director the question of reducing governmental costs ten per cent. The inference was that he had had this in contemplation all the time, but there is nothing in any of his previous utterances to indicate that. A ten per cent. cut is bound to curtail certain New Deal activities. Therefore, it would appear that his present position is a reversal of his first position. But that ought not to prevent it from being commended.

THESE things are not said so much in criticism of the President as to present facts that should be presented. The explanation—the only explanation—is that Mr. Roosevelt's mind is not free from political considerations. It is that which prevents him from providing the leadership to which the nation is entitled. Today there is a fear among informed people here that this will operate also against the industrial unity and energy which he seeks. Already it is clear that the real obstacle to effective production is labor. The schools of apprentices, under present union rules, are so conducted as rigidly to limit the quantity of skilled labor in many trades.

THIS is a real bottleneck. It has got to be removed if our effort to arm is to be successful. It can only be removed through a revision and adjustment of union regulations, which the unions are unwilling to concede. There are other labor bottlenecks created by New Deal legislation to the relaxing of which the labor leaders are opposed. Unless the President is willing to buck—and buck hard—these labor leaders, most of whom are his political friends supporting a third term, these obstacles will remain, and the whole defense effort be slowed down. It is distressing to record that after a very recent White House conference, one of the men closest to Mr. Roosevelt and very loyal to him sorrowfully expressed the belief that he would not buck labor in these matters.

Babson Says Business Has Absorbed Shock Of War Progress Well

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1940, Publishers Financial Bureau)

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 7.—Despite the violent news from Europe, American business has held its ground over the past month. A sensational surge in steel and other heavy industries has cancelled out losses in textiles, building, foreign trade and automobile sales. Business has also absorbed violent shocks in security and commodity prices without throwing the upward trend (which started in mid-April into reverse.

BABSON

This is a remarkable situation. Ordinarily when the stock market is hit with a 30 per cent shakeout over a 14-day period, it is as sure a sign of a business slump as is a rapidly-falling barometer of a storm. Added to the panic in the security markets is the drastic break in farm product prices. Wheat, for instance, is off 20 cents a bushel. Naturally, this sharp drop is having its effect on retail trade in rural areas. Sales are already off 10 to 20 per cent in such territories as Kansas City, Dallas and Minneapolis.

Textiles and Building Off

Textile mills have felt the shock, too. Their schedules dipped 10 to 15 per cent as raw cotton prices were slashed two cents a pound. An incessant barrage of war news, 24 hours a day, does not help real estate salesmen close their deals. Consequently, the gains in home building, which were running along smoothly up to May 1, are now being cut down. Latest figures for the country, nevertheless, show 1940 is still topping the level of a year ago. The slowing down in building is reflected in a tapering off of activity in the lumber camps as well.

Automobile sales are beginning to take it on the chin. After listening to a 15-minute broadcast of war news, or a quick perusal of the War Extra, the average buyer has the starch taken right out of him. Moreover, loss of the North European markets is a big blow to our exports of automobiles. Motor output in the first half of 1940 has been at a very high level. Now, with big field stocks, with sales slowing down, and with the export markets disrupted, manufacturers are cutting down production. The same situation is true in certain appliance and furniture lines.

Arms Industries Booming

These unfavorable trends, however, are all being erased by the tremendous impetus given armament industries. Current appropriations cover the largest peace-time funds ever set aside for our army and navy. New factories, training camps, shipyards, machine shops, foundries, will be needed to gear America up to war-time needs. I say war-time needs purposely because it seems inevitable to most well-informed people that we will tangle with Germany or Japan, sometime! Terrific stock-piles of copper, iron, rubber, lumber, tin, aluminum, will be needed to produce this vast defense machine.

So much for what has already happened. Gloomy as the war news has been—far more shocking than that which swept across the nation in 1914—our markets and business have absorbed the jolts relatively well. Back in 1914 the market collapsed, then closed, and business dropped sharply. It was six months before we had a rally. This time, as I have predicted right along, the war should give American industry a tremendous lift. Hundreds of thousands of the unemployed should find their way back to jobs (either in industry or in the army) in the next 12 months.

Foreign Trade Dislocated

America will, for awhile, become the world's No. 1 manufacturer, farmer, shipper and banker. The wiping out of Denmark, Holland and Belgium has temporarily given our foreign trade a rough time of it. Those countries, for instance, took over 30 per cent of our wheat exports. The loss of our markets in the neutral countries should soon be made up, however, by our taking over their trade with South America and with England. We will supply the Allies, for example, with steel which they formerly purchased from Belgium or produced in northern France, with paper which they purchased from Scandinavia, and with foodstuffs which they purchased from Denmark and Holland.

Hence, I believe that, war or peace, our industries will continue to hum. A German victory should mean a far greater defense program than that now contemplated; while an Allied victory should mean billions of dollars for reconstruction. To the extent that the world continues its expenditures for luxuries, style goods and amusements, these armament and reconstruction costs will result in an exhaustion of capital and world wealth. Then a lower standard of living throughout the world will follow unless unnecessary luxury expenditures are curtailed.

Repeal Wages and Hours

There is one possibility. If the Wage and Hour Act could be repealed and if labor unions would be reasonable, we might be able to increase our armament expenditures and still maintain our present standard of living. As long, however, as short-sighted politicians and selfish labor leaders remain in control, I see no hope for this change. The people of the United States—I fear—still fail to realize that only integrity, hard work, intelligence, self-control, and sacrifice will save them!

MEN STUDENTS TAKE UP DANCING FOR RELAXATION

(International News Service)

SWARTHMORE, Pa., June 7 — There are nine male students at Swarthmore college who lived a double life for the sake of a dance.

To all intents and purposes they are future mathematicians, engineers, teachers and doctors, but once a week they relax at a dancing class in the gymnasium.

Of course, the whole business is kept secret from their families. They might be called "sissies," or it's possible their kid sisters might rib them.

So "just for the fun," the would-be Nijinsky's go through a modern dance routine with Alice Gates, class adviser.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE FIVE YEAR OLD

Continuing the story of the growth of average children:

Your five year old is leaving babyhood behind. He is expanding in every direction: properly trained, he is dressing himself more expertly, putting on rubbers and cap before going outside; eating only the things he has been taught are safe: he isn't putting articles in his mouth, he doesn't drink or eat from dirty containers. Usually he will wash his hands before every meal with only occasional reminders. He is willing to and can run errands. He can be trusted to go to the store, if he doesn't have to cross dangeous streets. (But he should NOT be allowed to play in the street, for any child is apt to forget about automobiles and trucks in the excitement of play.)

Your five year old can enunciate all sounds of speech. His sentences are full and he usually doesn't leave subject or essential details to the hearer's imagination.

By the time he is five, that confusion between reality and imagination that we saw in the four year old should be moderating considerably. That is he should be less inclined to have wild flights of imagination when telling what he considers the truth. However I have known children who were slow devoloping this sense of distinction between truth and fiction.

Don't be surprised if the child of five begin to ask questions about sex and about the origin of babies. I have had parents come to me very distressed because a child showed interest in these subjects at such an age. I usually tell them that I would be concerned if the child didn't show curiosity in these matters. Any child of reasonable mental development will begin wondering about these things by the sixth year. The answers should be simple truth. Don't stimulate his curiosity unduly by attempting to tell him more than his curiosity demands. But on the other hand don't whet his curiosity by avoiding his questions or being mysterious about them.

During this year, the average child will begin his school life in the kindergarten. His daily routine will have to be adapted to this change. When he starts school in the morning, rising time should be set so he can dress unhurriedly and eat his breakfast slowly. It is wise to begin this rising habit before he starts school, so by the time he does, it will be a habit with him. If he sleeps too late, has to rush through his toilet and dressing and gobbles his breakfast, then school will become more of a strain. The excitement of school will certainly require that the child have an earlier bedtime, for a while at least—and this must be regularly observed.

From ten to twelve hours sleep is the usual requirement at this age. But don't go by this altogether. See that he sleeps enough every night so that he is ready to get up at rising time. See to it that he isn't still sleepy and too tired to eat a healthy breakfast.

NAZI ATTACK IS MOST SEVERE IN PERONNE REGION

of front line attacking troops, led by four of the famous Panzer (mechanized) divisions, the Nazi assault yesterday broke against the new French defense system with the exception of "slight" gains on the extremities of the battle line, a French military spokesman declared.

The new French system, he explained, is a flexible line of irregular strong points—a type which permits the trapping of armored and mechanized divisions after they have progressed beyond the outermost French lines.

In the Peronne region, said the spokesman, German tanks and two armored divisions were used. Some of them infiltrated a few kilometers, he declared, before they came up against the new French strong points and tank defenses. But he stated that German mobile infantry and artillery units failed to pass the front line and were mowed down with enormous losses.

Renew Attacks

At 4 a. m. today, he said, the German attacks began with the same violence as yesterday and in the same sectors extending from the banks of the Bresle River to Moulin De Lafdaux. He said the positions of Amiens had not changed and that the French were holding the Germans at Peronne despite the ferocity of the attacks there, in which half of the German armored divisions are engaged.

Similarly south of Ailette on the eastern extremity, the spokesman stated, there was fighting yesterday of "unbelievable violence" in which a French counter-attack followed the German assault.

Thereafter, he added, the struggle swayed backwards and forwards, but the end of the day saw the French still clinging to their ground while mounting German casualties testified to the desperation of the fighting.

Repulse Efforts

Throughout the day the French repulsed all German efforts to break through at Attigny on the Aisne River, inflicting "terrible casualties" on the Germans and continuing to dominate the heights, the spokesman said.

He added that yesterday marked a change in the German tactics, with tanks and infantry now thrown into prominence but German dive-bombers scarcely being used as an accompanying artillery weapon. The famous German Stukas now apparently are being restricted more or less to objectives behind the front lines.

French observers said they consider the new French anti-tank system is working perfectly, with the German losses yesterday showing the French strong points are "canalizing" the infiltrating tanks in accordance with the French plan.

When the German tanks progress further toward the rear, sometimes even as much as 10 or 12 miles, they are demolished by the French 75-millimeter guns it was claimed.

French authorities said a feature of yesterday's battle was the success of French air attacks on the German tanks. In these attacks, French pursuit planes using cannon that fired high explosive, armor-piercing shells, so successfully demolished German armored elements that the French airmen last night requested permission to continue these operations today, officials said.

Italian Press Aims New Blast At United States

Editorial Warns U. S. Against Taking Part In War In Europe

By PERCY WINNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, June 7.—For the second day in succession, Virginio Gayda, press spokesman for Premier Mussolini, today warned the United States against participation in the European conflict.

His second editorial on the subject in the influential newspaper Giornale D'Italia coincided with a number of new developments emphasizing the imminence of Italian entry into the war.

One was the appointment of Marshal Emilio De Bono, hero of the early stages of the Ethiopian campaign, as commander of Italy's southern armies. Another was the report that the entire French embassy staff except the ambassador and his three principal attaches had "received" their passports.

(Editor's Note: In New York, the Italian line announced that all Italian vessels had been ordered off the high seas. Those in neutral ports will remain there indefinitely and those at sea will head for neutral or home ports immediately.)

Under the heading "The American Whiplash", Gayda wrote:

"American intervention beside the British and French would have programmatic advantages.

"But it would have real disadvantages as well. The history of the European war during the last few months is instructive in this connection."

In his first article yesterday, Gayda warned that American participation might result in retaliatory measures which would nullify the Monroe Doctrine.

Consistory Men Have Pre-Reunion Smoker Last Night

Plans For Coming Reunion Are Announced To Members At Get-Together

Members of the Valley of New Castle Consistory, and their Masonic friends, were guests at a pre-reunion smoker which took place in The Cathedral last evening, when plans for the coming spring reunion, which opens Tuesday and lasts through Friday, were announced by Commander-in-Chief John E. Elliott.

The principal speaker of the evening was Tom O. Duggan, head of the Service Division of Thompson Products, one of the largest manufacturers of automobile and airplane parts in the world, who traced the development of the automobile and airplane since both were invented.

Mr. Duggan paid tribute to the race drivers, test drivers, and test pilots, many of whom have given their lives that the automobile and airplane could be made safer and more comfortable for those who operate them, and which has resulted in this country becoming the leading manufacturer and user of both machines.

Commander-in-Chief Elliott presided and introduced the speaker, who after his talk, showed several reels of pictures on the development of motoring and aviation and how autos and planes are manufactured.

He was presented with the jewel of the New Castle Service Division, being a member of the Consistory in his home community of Cleveland, O.

In conclusion, a delicious buffet lunch was served to those attending.

Indications point to the coming reunion being one of the greatest held in many years, and the class is expected to be the largest in the last decade.

Nearly Four Million Bibles Are Sold In China During 1939

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, China—During 1939 the Bible House here circulated seven copies of the Scriptures in every minute of the year.

"That is something which may hearten us in these days when we are faced with such adverse circumstances," declared the Rev. W. H. Hudspeth in his annual report to the Bible House which is an amalgamation of the American Bible society and the British and Foreign Bible society.

Coming during the second year of the Sino-Japanese hostilities, the officials of the Bible House consider extremely significant the sale of nearly 4,000,000 Bibles in China last year.

Sharp Jump Over 1938

This is an increase of by half a million copies over the 1938 record of sales.

With its black name for gunfights, open gambling and opium dens, and scores of cabarets, Shanghai foreigners did pause to purchase 8,000 Bibles in the English language, according to Mr. Hudspeth.

In addition Shanghai absorbed 3,000 copies in Russia, 2,500 in German, chiefly to the emigrants from the Nazi regime, and 1,000 copies in Japanese. The Bible House here has the Scriptures ready in thirty different languages.

Within a short time the county commissioners expect to advertise for bids on a stoker to be used in the court house. They believe that the stoker will cut down coal bills and for the past few months have been watching the performance of a stoker in the annex building.

Bids will likely be asked also for two new automobiles for the use of the sheriff's office. The present cars have taken a beating and to put them in shape would require considerable money. The commissioners fell that they will get better results by buying new cars.

With no preliminary warning the sewing project of the WPA has been reduced by one turn. A representative of the WPA walked into the commissioner's office and announced that one turn would be taken off immediately.

PREDICTS CHICAGO WILL CROWD INTO THREE STATES SOON

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Ill.—By 1980, Chicago's metropolitan area will stretch from Milwaukee, Wis., to the other side of Elgin, Ill.

That is the opinion of J. P. Packard of this city, whose hobby is the study of population centers and trends.

Packard has a complicated system of study which requires a great deal of patience and hard work. He consults libraries, universities, consulates and census figures for percentages of variation in population and then proceeds to tabulate them and work out his predictions.

Among his findings are the following:

The two cities leading the world in rapid growth to date are Gary, Ind., and Zlin in former Czechoslovakia. Gary rose from 16,000 in 1910 to 100,426 in 1930. Zlin jumped from 4,678 in 1921 to 35,617 in 1937.

The world's greatest metropolitan sections in order of their size are Greater New York, with 11,700,000 popualtion; Greater London 8,500,000; Tokyo 6,000,000; Paris 5,700,000; Chicago 4,800,000; Berlin 4,400,000 Moscow 4,300,000.

New Campers For Slippery Rock

Three Pittsburghers To Erect Summer Homes In Perry Township

Gradually the lower end of the Slippery Rock creek, in the vicinity of the Armstrong bridge, is becoming a Pittsburgh colony of summer campers. This summer three new cottages are to be erected on the hillside overlooking the creek and each of them will be more in the nature of summer homes than campers' cottages.

At the present time a roadway is being cut through the woods from the highway down to locations near the creek. The road will serve the properties of Lester A. Hamburg and H. Stanley Starling, who expect to get their home started shortly. The Hamburg home will be a large one, about 84x76 in size, complete with every convenience.

The home of H. Stanley Starling will be built adjoining the Hamburg property and next adjoining will be the home of A. A. Stevens. Last summer John A. Bindley of Pittsburgh erected a handsome summer home about 1500 feet below the Armstrong bridge.

This particular section of the Slippery Rock was at one time more or less isolated because of bad roads. Road improvements have been made and homes are being built but unlike other sections of the creek the homes will be some distance apart.

Roy Allen, building contractor of New Castle, is erecting the new homes mentioned.

SUES GOVERNMENT FOR RETURN OF MONEY HE WILLED

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC, Ia., June 7.—A suit for $7,000 recently was filed in district court at Atlantic by Frederick Kauer, 87-year-old Anita, Ia., philanthropist, who changed his mind about leaving $7,000 to the United States government.

Five years ago, Kauer's petition asserted, he signed an agreement with Leon G. Voorhees, president of the Anita State Bank, transferring $7,000 to the latter, with the stipulation that he be paid six per cent interest until his death, at which time the money would be paid to the government.

During the past two years, however, Kauer declared, he had changed his mind.

"There are too many wealthy top hats running things in Washington" he explained to acquaintances. "The government has plenty of money anyway."

Ezekiel Teaches Personal Responsibility

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Watchman on the Ramparts

"So then each one of us shall give account of himself to God."—Rom. 14:12.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for June 9 is Ezekiel 33:1-20, the Golden Text being Rom. 14:12, "So then each one of us shall give account of himself to God.")

EZEKIEL, the prophet, and his people were in exile during the time he gave to them the message which is the subject of today's lesson. It was at Tel-abib, at the river Chebar, on a canal on the Euphrates river, near Nippur, in Babylon, in the year 586 B. C.

Ezekiel was married and had a house of his own. His wife died very suddenly, and the Lord told him he must not shed tears, and he must not eat the bread of man, but must speak to the people and warn them of what was coming—conquest and exile.

In our lesson he tries to impress upon his people in exile that they individually suffer for their own sins; that theirs is the responsibility for their actions, and if they repent and leave their evil ways, their sins will be forgiven and forgotten by God.

As a prophet he is a watchman appointed by the Lord Jehovah for his people, warning them of the dangers that are approaching. If the watchman on the ramparts sees an army approaching to destroy the city, he should sound his trumpet so that the people may be warned and flee or prepare to fight. If, however, the watchman sees the danger and does not blow his trumpet, and the enemy comes and takes the city, then the blood of the people is on the head of the watchman.

If Watchman Is Faithless

"So thou, O son of man (meaning himself), I have set thee a watchman unto the house of Israel; therefore thou shalt hear the word from My mouth, and warn them from Me."

If Ezekiel, like the faithless watchman on the ramparts, had failed to warn Israel of her sins, then he was responsible if the wicked "die in inquity." If such warning has been given, however, and the people refuse to listen to the prophet, it is their own fault that they repent not.

God has no pleasure in the death of the wicked. He would rather we turn away from sin and live. "Turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O house of Israel?" Ezekiel pleads.

He makes it clear that hypocrisy will not help. If a man profess righteousness and still commits sin he will not be saved, but die. Only if he "turn from his sin, and do that which is lawful and right;

"If the wicked restore the pledge, give again that he had robbed, walk in the statutes of life, without committing iniquity; he shall surely live."

The Israelites were not at all inclined to listen to Ezekiel at this time. They thought the Lord was not fair and punished them without reason.

"Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equal," Ezekiel told them. "O ye house of Israel, I will judge you every one after his ways." Doesn't this accusation remind you of the blame which those who do wrong try to shift on everyone except themselves? Father, mother, friend, is to blame. Never themselves.

Soon after this, in the twelfth year of their captivity, a messenger escaped from Jerusalem and told them that their sacred city had been destroyed. Then Ezekiel said, "my mouth was opened and I was no more dumb."

From then on he could console and minister to his people, and build up their moral life because they would listen to him. His prediction that Jerusalem would fall had happened, and they would harken to a man whose prophecies came true.

Fire Destroys Leesburg Home

Loss Of $5,000 Is Occasioned By Blaze — Furnishings Saved

(Special To The News)

MERCER, June 7.—Loss estimated at about $5,000 resulted from a fire at Leesburg that completely destroyed a dwelling and threatened several other buildings.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller, owned by John Chadderton, Mercer, was destroyed. Firemen pumped most of the wells in the town dry to prevent the fire from spreading to a large general store and a garage.

Mrs. Miller told Mercer Fire Chief Fred Cubbison that she discovered the fire in the upstairs of her home about 2 p. m. The origin was not determined.

Most of the furnishings were saved. The loss to the house is covered by insurance.

Traffic on the Perry highway, on which the home was located, was tied up for more than two hours by a large crowd of spectators. Both Mercer Fire Departments, Grove City and New Wilmington departments answered the alarm.

CONSIDER 'POOL' BEER

LONDON—The last stronghold of the British working man may be breached by the government. After discussion with ministry of food officials brewers are considering marketing "pool" beer, in order to save barley. A canvass of saloon owners, however, reveals that the British workman will have the beer he wants or none at all, so the scheme may fall through.

Plans were made for a flower day meeting, with the date to be announced.

The meeting closed with the benediction.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. C. C. Wick and Mrs. B. H. Craig, served delicious lunch and plans were made to meet with Mrs. Harry Thornburg of Butler avenue for their next gathering.

COULD NOT ASK MORE OF RETONGA, SAYS NEFF

Digestion Seems Perfect Now; Pains And Soreness Are Gone From Legs And Joints. Gives Facts To Others.

"I could not ask for more than Retonga did for me and I can never find words strong enough to express my gratitude to this wonderful medicine," declares Mr. Herman O. Neff, of 15 Parkway, West, a resident of Pittsburgh for fifteen years, and a former member of the U. S. Coast Artillery.

"Even the lightest meals caused bad belching and a return of sour liquid in my throat that burned like fire. My bowels were sluggish and I suffered agonizing pains in my legs and joints. Often my body was so stiff and sore that I could not sleep at night and I would get up in the morning feeling too miserable to go to work. I have gone for months without a decent night's rest. At times I would get up in the morning with such a bad swelling around my eyes that I could hardly see.

"Retonga improved my condition in short order. I have a fine appetite and all I eat agrees with me. My bowels are regulated, I sleep fine and wake up with double my share of energy. Every sign of soreness and pain is gone. Retonga beats any medicine I ever saw."

Truck Convention To Attract Many

With a heavier pre-convention registration than has been shown in any of the previous six conventions, the seventh annual convention of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association at Conneaut Lake on June 13-14-15 will probably set a new mark in attendance.

Harry L. Gormley, general chairman of the convention, stated today that the response from every county in the state had been unusual and that there seemed no doubt this convention would be one for the other sections of the state to shoot at in coming years.

Outstanding Speakers

Featuring this convention will be a number of really outstanding speakers. On Thursday, June 13, the first day of the convention, the speakers will include Mayor Fred Whipple of Meadville, Dr. F. G. Henke, professor of philosophy, Allegheny College and Dr. Paul Giddens, professor of political science, Alegheny College.

Friday's speakers include some state governmental officials. Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis, Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Livengood, National Grange Master Louis J. Taber, former Governor Harold Hoffman of New Jersey make up the speakers of the second day.

Saturday, June 15, is the closing day of the convention. The speakers will include W. Y. Blanning, Bureal of Motor Transportation of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and Public Utility Commissioner Richard J. Beamish.

Sectional meetings will mark the morning meetings of the convention at which time car carriers, petroleum carriers, local haulers, heavy haulers, and other divisions of the industry will discuss problems peculiar to their own businesses. The afternoons will be taken up by social divertisements and the dinner meetings given over to the speakers.

Howard D. Gibbs of Pittsburgh is the present president of the P. M. T. A. New officers will be elected on Saturday morning, June 15.

On Saturday afternoon the safe driving competition will be held in which Pennsylvania's champion driver will be selected from 14 contestants who have won the district competitions. The state winner this year will be sent to the national meeting in Los Angeles, Cal., in November to compete for the national championship.

Trainman Killed Result Of Wreck Near Connellsville

Freight Train Derailed By "Sun Kink" In Rail Caused By Extreme Heat

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., June 7—One man was dead and two others injured today as the result of the derailment of a Pittsburgh and West Virginia roalroad freight train when it struck a "sun kink" last night.

The train's engineer, fireman and chief brakeman escaped injured by leaping from the engine cab as it hurtled over a nine foot embankment.

The dead man, identified through a social security card, was believed to be William J. Moran, 40, a U. S. Navy sailor of Lawrence, Mass.

The injured were listed as Walter Jenkins, 44 of Connellsville and Theodore Poeth, 26, Duncannon, Pa.

The dead man and the two injured ones were listed by the railroad as "trespassers," who had been riding on one of the freight cars near the engine.

State motor police said a rail defect, caused by the heat of the sun forced the engine and nine cars directly behind it to leave the rails. Railroad officials said it would take 50 hours to bring the service back to normal.

The chances for eventual death from tuberculosis for the colored baby are virtually two and one-half times as great as they are for the white baby.

CANADA'S NEWSPRINT PAPER

Canada leads the world in the production of newsprint paper, and exports more newsprint than all other countries combined.

There are only four of the 48 states that have no alimony statutes. They are Delaware, Texas, North Carolina and South Carolina, which grant no divorces.

News Briefs From City Hall

Automobiles reportedly operated by Edward Olsen, 127 Elm street, and Mrs. Arthur Heizman, 1209 Highland avenue, collided at one p. m. Thursday at Park and Highland avenues. Olsen was driving east on Park avenue. He informed police he stopped before entering Highland avenue. Mrs. Heizman was driving south on Highland avenue, the report stated, and the accident occurred.

Suspicious cars and barking dogs kept police busy in different sections of the city last night.

Police have been given orders by Mayor Charles B. Mayne to watch for autoists who remove barricades due to the complaint of City Engineer Glenn R. Throop, who told council Thursday that the practice has averaged a cost of $10 to the city daily.

City police in cruiser cars and on foot now watch different city parks at night. They watch for suspicious automobiles and any person or persons who may be bent on vandalism.

"I Felt Run Down--Had No Pep --Kidneys And Stomach Hurt." Says West Brownsville Man

But After Taking the Well-Known Medicine, "Williams Formula", Mr. Carl J. Hartley Says He Feels So Good He Has Started His Mother, His Wife and His Mother-in-Law Taking This Widely Heralded Preparation.

"I think 'Williams Formula' is the best medicine I have ever taken," says Mr. Carl J. Hartley, 59 Woodland Avenue, West Brownsville, Pa., Read His Honest statement so that you, too, can profit by the experience of others.

When a man finds a medicine that gives him such wonderful relief from his suffering that his whole family starts taking the preparation, it must be good! And that is just what Carl J. Hartley, well-known West Brownsville man says about "Williams Formula", the medicine now being introduced to crowds at the Pay Less Drug Store.

Following is his remarkable statement of relief, which should be of interest to every other similar sufferer in this city and vicinity.

He Recommends "Williams Formula"

"Yes, indeed, it makes me very happy to be able to pass on to others, my experience with Williams Formula.

"It has made me more energetic, and I feel stronger, and I am able to enjoy my meals more now, since taking this fine medicine. Food just didn't appeal to me, and because I didn't eat well, I was afraid of losing weight. But since Williams Formula has increased my appetite, I have gained five pounds.

"Constipation gave me a lot of worry—I suffered the resulting headaches, and "worn-out", pepless feeling. But Williams Formula brought me relief in this respect also.

Since I have been taking Williams Formula, I have started my wife, my Mother, and my Mother-in-law on it, so you know what I think of it. I'm going to try and always keep a bottle of 'Williams Formula' in the house."

So Many Fine Actions

Because of its many fine actions, "Williams Formula" has been a blessing to thousands of men and women, when they were run-down, underweight, and "just not feeling good", yet did not know what was wrong. This splendid medicine is actually like taking several good medicines in one. It helps ease out foul wastes that back up in the system from constipation; it acts to relieve upset stomach and lack of appetite from constipation and over acidity; it acts to relieve stomach gas and bloat; it tends to reduce acidity of the urine thus helping relieve bladder irritation, and smarting, burning of the urinary passages; and even makes available extra Iron for Iron-poor blood, in addition to supplying tonics for the nerves and digestion.

How Can One Medicine Do All This?

"Williams Formula" has so many beneficial actions because it is made of VITAL HERBAL EXTRACTS and MINERALS, gathered from all parts of the world, each having its own special work to do. Each of these ingredients is MILD, yet potent in action, all skillfully compounded and blended so they do their work as ONE Pleasant-to-take medicine. Your own judgment can tell you the value of obtaining these several actions at one time. "Williams Formula" gives benefits that cannot be obtained from a laxative alone, and nearly everyone can take it to advantage at times. ("Where Rheumatic Pains are present, RUX Compound should be taken together with "Williams Formula" for best effect.)

Make This Test!

Be fair with yourself! Get a bottle of "Williams Formula" today and start taking it. The cost is so little—only a few cents a day and it may be worth many dollars to you in the relief it gives. Deny Report Of Manton's Illness

(International News Service)

LEWISBURG, Pa., June 7.—Northeastern Federal Penitentiary authorities today denied reports that former U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals Judge Martin T. Manton of New York, serving two years for selling justice, was fighting serious illness.

Manton was reported to have collapsed from sun-stroke in the prison yard Tuesday and to have been removed to the infirmary. He was prostrated by the 90-degree heat, according to a guard.

"Judge Manton's all right—nothing wrong," declared Warden William H. Hiatt.

Manton fell victim to several attacks on his health since his arrival at the penitentiary last March 7 to start his two-year sentence.

'WEYGAND LINE' PIERCED BY NAZIS CLAIM OF BERLIN

poleon succeeded only in blocking English exports to the Continent. We are carrying the blockade now into the heart of England and cutting off their food supplies.

"Let England discover what it means to be hungry as Germany was in 1918."

Claim Germans Drive On

While today's official communique gave few details of the fighting near Paris, authentic military spokesmen declared that two huge German armies are storming forward over what was termed "only sporadically fortified country."

Striking toward the Seine on the west and the Marne on the east, these armies are attempting to isolate Paris by cutting the most important railway and river arteries.

German spokesmen declared that the push was continuing without a hitch and daily average advance so far has been 25 miles.

(Editor's Note: Official French military information is at variance with this claim. German advances were admitted on the coastal region, but only small motorized units have broken through elsewhere, and to a depth of ten miles at the most.)

Along the Channel, the right wing of the German forces has reached the Bresle river and is boring toward Dieppe as well as the important railway junction of Beauvais 50 miles north of Paris.

(Editor's Note: French military sources said they believed the German claims were based upon infiltration by Nazi mechanized troops. This, they said, is in reality part of the new French plan to let tanks through to prepared anti-tank positions and then destroy them.)

STORIES TOLD ABOUT GREAT MEN

Daniel Webster, the great American statesman, was once sued by his butcher for a bill of long standing. Before the suit was settled he met the butcher on the street, and to that worthy's embarrassment said: "Why have you not sent around for my order?" "Why, Mr. Webster," said the man, "I did not think you wanted to deal with me when I brought this suit."

"Tut, tut," said Webster, "sue me all you wish, but for heaven's sake, don't try to starve me to death."

Running Mate?

Sen. James F. Byrnes

Official Washington circles declare that the President has made definite overtures to Senator James F. Byrnes, of South Carolina, to become his running mate in next presidential election. President Roosevelt still is silent on third term. (Central Press)

Southworth Named Cardinal Manager

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, June 7.—Billy Southworth, manager of the Rochester ball team of the International league, today was named manager of the St. Louis Cardinals to replace Ray Blades.

President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals said Southworth will take over the managerial duties at St. Louis Monday.

Blades' dismissal became effective immediately and Coach Mike Gonzales will be in charge of the club on the field pending Southworth's arrival, Breadon said.

Breadon said that Blades is "out of the Cardinal organization for the time being." He declined to elaborate on this statement.

ARRANGE EXHIBIT OF OLD PRINTING

In observance of the 500th anniversary of printing, being marked this year, the local public library has arranged an interesting exhibit of old printing in the main display case, in the library lobby.

Among the items exhibited may be seen a leaf from the first Latin Bible, printed in Venice in 1476. A complete book, "Thomas Aquinas: Opus Aureum", which was printed in 1493, is in the case, and facsimiles of a page from the first books printed in the New World are also on display. A picture of what was probably the first press in the New World may also be seen.

According to Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, the exhibit will be in the case through next Monday.

Girl Scout Camp Opens Thursday

Mrs. Rebecca Zeigler Director At Camp Kon-O-Kwee For Week's Period

ELLWOOD CITY, June 7.—The Girl Scouts under the capable leadership of Mrs. Rebecca Zeigler as directress opened camp yesterday at 12 o'clock noon at beautiful Camp Kon-o-Kwee, the Pittsburgh Y. M. C. A. camp near Fombell. The busiest places at camp for the first two hours were the office where Miss Josephine Hartzell, business manager of the camp, was located and the nurse's cabin in charge of Mrs. Garfield Thomas. By 2 o'clock Miss Hartzell had registered 115 girls and Mrs. Thomas had weighed, measured and checked each girl's health certificate. Doctors of the town deserve a vote of thanks and praise for giving the girls their health examinations free of charge.

The camp is made up of five units averaging 24 girls each according to age. Each tent or cabin has space for eight girls. The smallest girls, who are just 10 years old, occupy the Wonderland unit, the 11-year-old girls the Wood Nymph unit, the 12-year-old girls the Vagabond unit, the 13-year-old girls the Cliff Dweller unit and the girls from 14 and over are in the Gypsy unit.

After they were settled in their respective units the girls were very anxious to try the swimming pool. It is constructed of cement and has a filtration system which purifies the water as it enters the pool. However, the counselors had planned a complete hour of the camp in order that the girls might become familiar with their surroundings. The tour, known as The Cotton Tail Trail, was in charge of Mrs. Edward Gamble, nature instructor. Earlier in the day she, with several assistants, had blazed the trail with pieces of cotton as markers which when followed finally led to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cotton, where they were greeted by the Cottons' small daughter Lois. Mr. Cotton is camp director of the Pittsburgh Y. M. C. A. and he and his family live at the camp all summer.

The old dinner bell atop the dining hall did not need to be rung twice to get the girls to their first meal in camp which was at 6 p. m. and from the tantalizing odor in the kitchen around 3 o'clock they were not disappointed. Mrs. Edward Reilley and Mrs. Lloyd Hamill are in charge of the kitchen and dining room, assisted by the following girls: Evelyn Wright, Peggy Reilley, Evelyn Gardner and Harriet Danner.

In addition to the staff already mentioned the following people are also working at camp:

Handicraft—Mrs. George Bloom, Jean Strohecker, Kathleen Danner.

Swimming—Frances Best, Betty Barclay and Ruth Denniston.

Dramatics—Bessie Burrows, Alice Shirley, Peggy Young and Marie Manning.

Nature—Ruth Croft and Catherine Cooper.

Camp craft—Edith Wooster, Jean Steele, Dorothy McKeever, Mrs. Bohlen, Marion Davis and Mrs. Oran Stewart.

Also two handy men, one of whom Arthur Milson is an Eagle Scout and the other Eugene Tanner, is doing the work this week at camp on his Sea Scout badge. They will assist at the swimming pool as guards.

UNION AUXILIARY

ELLWOOD CITY, June 7.—The Sons of Union Veterans Auxiliary will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Fourth street V. F. W. hall.

Miss Doris Clark, of North Sewickley, ieft today for Meadville, where she will spend the week-end at Camp Atawanac.

Ellwood Council Has Long Session

Many Minor Matters Come Before Members On Thursday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, June 7—Despite the decidedly warm weather, members of Council at the stated June meeting last evening at the city building kept in session until almost midnight, although little other than routine matters were considered.

An ordinance calling for the erection of sewers and paving of streets in the new Park View plan of lots by a W. P. A. project with the city as sponsors and the entire costs of materials to be paid by Frank G Smith and J. C. Eichenlaub was presented and caused lengthy discussion. Councilmen Habart, Lanzi and Biordi emphatically declared that "it's not fair to place this project ahead of others." Unless additional W. P. A. labor is provided present projects of the boro will require two years for completion, boro manager, Lowell W. Monroe stated Council has the authority to state when each project shall be started, it was said. Attorney Allen D. Keller stated that forty houses have been erected in the new plan and that they were providing a large revenue to the boro in taxes. The ordinance was referred to the street committee, boro manager and solicitor for a further report.

Losing by a 5 to 5 vote and ordinance calling for the removal of the garbage disposal plant to property outside the city failed to pass on third reading. Voting affirmatively were Habert, Hill, Howell Zeigler and Greenham, Boyd, Curry and Lanzi objecte because the boro had not at the present time any property outside the boro, and declared that it was the dump and not the incinerator that caused a disagreeable odor in Fourth Ward. W. E. Mitchell, a spectator at the meeting, was asked to give his opinion as a resident of the ward and he declared the incinerator was offensive to 95 per cent of the residents. The boro manager has been securing available sites where the dump may be removed outside the city limits, but asked that his report might be made at a closed meeting.

Upon the recommendation of finance chairman, Habart, it was agreed to advance an additional $500 to the playground commission. The budget called for $1,000 for operation and $500 for new equipment and the additional $500 will go to the operation account. It was said the money was needed because the school board would give only $500, which was "ear marked" for purchase of equipment.

Demanding the installation of a 4-way traffic light at second street and Fountain avenue by August or the discontinuance of the light, a letter was received from the state highway department. It also stated that no permit had been given for the light at Franklin avenue and Second street, and asked for the immediate discontinuance of the signal until a regulation type signal could be installed. The communication was given to the police committee.

Negotiations for the purchase of property in Ewing Park from the Shelby land company to be added to the park was called for in an ordinance that was passed on first reading. The property is now being used for a ball diamond.

Calling for the operation of the offices of health, boro secretary and boro manager on daylight savings time, a resolution endorsed by Robert Curry, lost by a 5 to 5 vote. Habart objected because it would confuse residents coming to the secretary's office to pay electric bills. Biordi said that the operation of the building was under the rules and regulations committee and to that body the resolution was later referred.

The boro manager was instructed to replace whatever hose was needed by the fire department. It was agreed to continue Chief Harry V. Wolfe on the pay roll at regular salary for another month, when further action will be taken. Mr Wolfe had been ill at his home for the past eight weeks suffering from serious burns received in a fall at his home.

A request of the Chamber of Commerce that signs be placed in the boro directing motorists to the free parking lots at the P. and L. E. grounds and the curb market was given to the police committee with power to act.

Referred to the rules and regulations committee was a request of the Badger and Fleeger company to erect a building on boro property to be removed at the boro's request, in Sixth street.

Council agreed to set aside a $50 flower fund.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church was granted permission to use Ewing Park for a camp fire during the Allegheny district convention to be held here in two weeks.

The matter of parking regulations on the west side of Fifth street called for another long discussion and was finally referred to the burgess.

Bids for the operation of the refreshment stand in Ewing Park will be advertised and will be awarded at a special meeting to be held in ten days.

American flags and poles will be purchased for all the playgrounds and a new flag bought for the city building.

It was agreed to oil the portion of all alleys where houses are located. All dirt streets have been oiled.

That Ray Quinn and Tony Lasso be hired as park employees, a recommendation of the rules and regulations committee, was passed by a 6-4 vote. William Mehard was hired as a meter reader at a salary of $125 a month. The naming of an additional police officers was deferred.

Street lights will be placed on Johnston drive, Popular Way, and Crescent avenue. No action will be taken on applications for lights in alleys unless there are a number of residences.

Councilmen Meneice, Lanzi, Curry, Howell, Zeigler and Greenham and secretary E. B. Moyer and Mr Monroe will attend the councilmen's convention on June 24, 25 and 26.

Tax collection for May amounted to $379 for 1938; and $887 for 1939. Total fines, costs and forfeits amounted $44.

Retention facilities for keeping dogs until they can be claimed by owners are to be secured by the health committee.

A. J. Howell said that Dr. Arthur Whitaker, of Zelienople, has completed a detailed history of Ellwood City and said that the boro as a part of the 50th anniversary to be observed here next year will be asked to sponsor the printing of the history into book form.

Miss Helen Workley and Robert Walton as negro servants kept the comedy at a high pitch throughout the entire performance by their splendid acting. Miss Ether Beighley, Chauncey Boots and Hugh Timblin, other members of the cast, performed their roles in a creditable manner.

ELLWOOD CITY, June 7.—A pleasant event of Thursday evening took place at the home of Mrs. Etta McCurdy of North Sewickley, when 16 members and one guest, Mrs. Evans, of the Willing Workers class of the First Christian church, assembled for the June meeting.

LONDON AMUSED AT SUBTLETY OF SOME PROPAGANDA IN U. S.

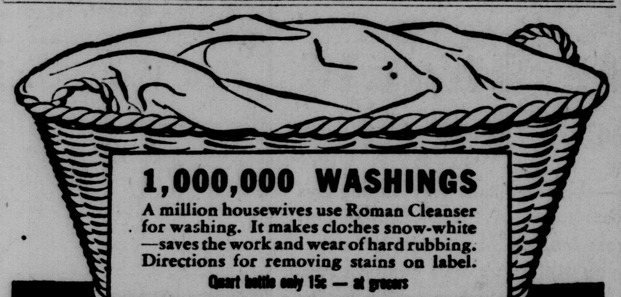

LONDON—The subtlety of foreign propaganda in America was striking and amusingly revealed when Lord Josiah Stamp, eminent British economist, recently received a gift of a parcel of food from a friend in Philadelphia.

The gift was sent to Lord Stamp in all goodwill to enable him to have a little luxury in these days of rationing in Britain.

Contained in the parcel were:

Three tins of Portuguese sardines.
A small box of Gruyere cheese.
A slab of chocolate.
A tin of honey and
A little pot of peanut butter.

Lord Stamp was deeply touched by his friend's kindness, but has since enlightened him as to the true facts that Britain has ample supplies of food and that no one goes short.

Pirates Climb Out Of Cellar

Defeat Boston Bees 7 to 6 As Frankie Gustine, Rookie Stars At Bat

By ED KIELY
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 7.—Just when it looked as if the Boston Red Sox were going to slip from the top-rung of the American League ladder, a couple of old veterans, who have been toiling in baseball's vineyard for a total of 32 years, combined their efforts to halt the disaster.

With his club in the throes of a three-game losing streak, Manager Joe Cronin called upon 40-year-old Robert Moses Grove to save the day, and old Mose, with the aid of James Emory Foxx, himself a veteran of 16 seasons, came through in flying colors.

Red Sox Win

In yesterday's game with the St. Louis Browns, Grove allowed only six hits and Foxx smashed out a three-run homer in the ninth to give the Red Sox a much-needed 3 to 1 victory Young Emil Bildilli worked for the losers and held Boston scoreless until Foxx connected for his 14th round-tripper of the year.

The second-place Cleveland Indians were forced to travel 11 heats before defeating the stubborn Washington Senators, 5 to 4. Catcher Frank Pytlak, who held the distinction of being this year's longest-holdout, forced the issue by opening the 11th with a triple and scoring on Lou Boudreau's single.

At New York, the Chicago White Sox upset the New York Yankees, 4 to 3, by putting on a two-run rally in the ninth, and the Philadelphia Athletics tripped the Detroit Tigers, 7 to 4, with Chubby Dean racking up his fifth victory of the year.

Pittsburgh Out Of Cellar

The most surprising news in the National League was that Pittsburgh finaly lifted itself from the cellar into a seventh place tie with the Boston Bees. Rookie Frankie Gustine sparked a ten-hit attack with a single and a triple as the Pirates came from behind to nose out the Bees, 7 to 6.

The Brooklyn Dodgers gained a half-game on the idle league-leading Cincinnati Reds by trimming the St. Louis Cardinals, 9 to 5. Johnny Mize, contributing his 15th home run to a losing cause, continued as the leader of the home run derby.

Fishing Contest Ended Thursday

Only Two Carp Are Caught By Youthful Fishermen In "Fishermen's Paradise"

Finals in the Ben Franklin fishing contest were run off Thursday afternoon in the Lehigh Portland Cement company quarry pool along the County Line road, when the final winners were adjudged.

Frank Carl caught the largest fish, which measured nine and a quarter inches in length, while John Quint was second with a nine-inch carp, missing out for the championship because half of its tail was missing, having been snipped off in some manner.

These were the only two fish caught by boys eligible. Another boy, who was not a student at Ben Franklin, caught one nine and three-quarter inches in length, but was ineligible.

Coach Emmett Gillaspie of the Ben Franklin junior high school, who sponsored the contest, gained a lot of experience, and is looking forward to another next year, which will probably will conducted under more ideal circumstances.

The hours during which the contest was conducted are not the most ideal for fishing. Earlier in the day, or later, the fish might have been more tempted to bite and a larger catch might have resulted.

Fish Warden "Rosy" White was on the job yesterday and measured the fish, declaring the winners.

Sports World Ramblings

Strictly on the diamond . . . Did you ever stop to think how much time elapses during the completion of a double play, a Joe DiMaggio homer, or how long it takes a batter to walk to first after drawing a free ticket, or the time required for an outfielder to pocket a fly, or the time required for a batter to reach third after clouting a triple?

Thanks to that ingenious keyboard manipulator, Henry McLemore and his trusty stop watch, we are able to present this unusual, but yet interesting, sidelight on baseball. McLemore recently spent an afternoon at Yankee Stadium checking this and that.

A double play, from the time a hurler tosses, the batter hits, the infielder grabs the pellet, shoots to second and the second baseman pivots and then heaves to the first sacker, requires but 4 and 2-5 seconds. Russo was the twirler, Laabs the batter and Crosetti, Gordon and Dahlgren the other principals in the twin killing.

With Joe DiMaggio up, McLemore let the time piece loose as the pitcher wound up. Joe swung and the ball soared high and far into the left field stands. The time was 5 seconds. . . . After drawing a free ducat to first a batter usually takes about 6 and 3-5 seconds to reach the initial post, McLemore discovered.

Clift and Knickbocker, who poled 407-feet clouts, needed by 11 seconds to reach third safely. Four seconds elapse from the time a hitter poles a fly which an outfielder pockets. Only 2 and 4-5 seconds passed from the time the pitcher tossed and the catcher tucked the ball and heaved to second, catching Gordon who tried to steal second.

Diamond short stories—Van Lingle Mungo, who seems to be making a comeback as a Dodger, will be 29 on Saturday. . . . Fred Sington, Fred Shaffer's team mate on the Louisville Colonel team, was a star gridder on the Alabama team of 1931. He was a member of the crack Crimson Tide juggernaut which walloped Washington State in the Rose Bowl, 24-0. . . . "Lefty" Grove will be honored Saturday at Fenway Park. A deserving tribute to a deserving man.

Snead Leading Tourney Field

Slamming Sammy Blows Hot Opening Day With Brilliant 67 Card

B LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

CANTERBURY GOLF CLUB, WARRENSVILLE, O., June 7.—Stop the slammer.

That was the common purpose today of the nation's greatest professional and amateur golf stars as they went into the second round of the National Open Championship trailing Slammin' Sam Snead's first round, record-cracking 67, which threatens to turn the efforts of the other contestants into so many perfunctory gestures.

Co-favorite with little Ben Hogan of Texas, Snead left the latter and all the rest behind on his starting tour of this spacious layout, and some observers clung to the notion that he was primed to break the all-time open record of 281 if the weather holds. That mark was established by Ralph Guldahl at Detroit in 1937, with rounds of 71, 69, 72, 69. Thus Snead has a four-stroke edge over Guldahl's first round to work on, and, as they say down yonder in his native old Virginny, he's a fixing to use that edge.

Sets New Record

As usual, however, there are skeptics among us who insist that he will blow cold before the thing is over, because he always has in the past. In three of the last four years, the current championship included, he has finished the opening blast out in front, but he hasn't won yet. Of course, he never shot a 67 before, but neither has anybody else on the first round in all the long history of the spectacle. What he did shoot, specifically, was a 69 in 1937 and a 68 last year. In 1938 he slipped to an opening 77 and slipped right out of the running.

At any rate, the tall young veteran from Shawnee, Pa., via Virginia, is not until further notice—scorching, sizzling, links-blistering hot on a course with great, wide fairways made to order for his slugging game and with greens that, in most cases, are big and inviting, waiting there for the gent who can ham those putts home.

Can Drive And Putt

And he can drive with the best that ever lived, and pitch and putt. He not only can, but he did yesterday in compiling his amazing 33-34—67 on a par 72 layout, which was hard-baked and fast as a greased toboggan. If it were to rain it might be different.

But no sudden change in the hot weather was forecast as he and the rest of the 160-odd starters went out today on the second 18-hole round, which will reduce the field to the 60 low scorers and ties for tomorrow's final 36 holes—that final stretch that has brought Snead only repeated frustration in the past.

Parks Has 69

Hard on his heels today were former champion Sam Parks, of Pittsburgh, Ed Oliver, the big hitter from Hornell, N. Y., and Horton Smith of Oak Park, Ill., who carded 69's and Hogan, victor Ghezzi of Deal N. J., and Al Huske of De Kalk, Ill., all with 70's. Back in the next bracket with 71's came Gene Sarazen, Leland Gibson of Kansas City, Andrew Gibson of Baltimore, Henry Kaiser of Racine, Wis., and Bob Babbish of Rochester, Mich., the latter the leader among the amateurs.

Still farther back were such notables as Ralph Guldahl, twice the open champion, Jimmy Demaret, winter sensation, and Henry Picard, current, professional title-holder with 73's, and still farther beyond that Bud Ward, National Amateur champion, Walter Hagen, perennial entrant, and the rest. Some were hopeless by this time but many of them waited for that moment when Snead will wilt.

No Snaring In Fishing Contest

Winner Of Wednesday's Contest, Hooked His Fish, And 'Twas A Chub

It seems that there is all the difference in the world between snaring a fish and hooking one. Snaring is a process which is banned by the ethics of sportsmanship, and also by state law, and when the reporter who covered Wednesday's fishing contest inadvertently mentioned the fact that the winner of the contest snared a sucker, he was not being technical, but merely informative, wishing to inform the public that the boy in question, Robert Richardson, had caught the fish. And anyway, it wasn't a sucker, but a chub.

With Fish Warden "Rosy" White, sort of supervising the contest, no illegal devices would have been permitted, and of course were not. In justice, therefore to Robert, and to critics, we wish to announce that Robert did not snare the fish. He caught it legitimately, on a hook.

LENIN LIBRARY IN MOSCOW CONTAINS 10 MILLION BOOKS

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, June 7.—Bookshelves with an aggregate length of 120 miles which can accommodate 12,000,000 books are provided by five new blocks which have been added to the old building of the Lenin Library, the imposing state library of the U. S. S. R. which stands opposite the Kremlin.

The new buildings, where 15 reading halls will seat 1,600 readers simultaneously, have been necessitated by the rapid increase in the number of readers, says the official Tass Agency.

The Lenin Library already contains over 10,000,000 books. It has 68,000 permanent readers last year and lent 3,500,000 books.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Today is the last day of school . . . maybe we should have said . . . today was the last day of school . . . now the fur will fly, trips here and there on the old bicycle . . . with a lunch tied on the handle bars that mother packed with things she knew the boy liked . . . oh what fun a fellow can have in the good old summer time.

* * *

Those of you who like to work around the yard have probably been trying to fight a small green worm that seems to be on everything . . . in the olden days these worms were called "measuring worms" and they were few in number. Today they are called "canker worms" and they are here in great numbers. If caught when young they are not hard to kill, but at this date the worms have become older and a fight is on. They eat the leaves off everything including our prize rose bushes . . . and since we have received reports that they are doing the same to a great many other small time farmers, we have taken the time to contact the County Farm Agent, Harold McCullough and here is the spray he recommends . . . For a five gallon lot of spray . . . to five gallons of water add nine tablespoons of arsenic of lead and eighteen tablespoons of lime. This will coat the foliage and when the worms eat they will consume the arsenic . . . if this doesn't seem to stop them, make another application in ten days. (Be sure that when you spray you don't breathe any of the spray, it just might make you a little sick.)

* * *

While we are talking about farming . . . we wonder just who will be the first local farmer to have sweet corn on the market. Some of the boys take great delight in getting their products on the market early . . . who wouldn't, a good price is usually forthcoming.

* * *

The fishing contest sponsored by the athletic department of the Ben Franklin school . . . which started in the Neshannock River and ended in the Quarry Pool of the Cement Company . . . has a few startling results. The largest fish or rather carp caught was 9¼ inches long . . . the lucky lad was Frank Carl . . . the second largest carp was nine inches long, something ate or cut the tail off this fish, it was caught by John Quint. It's all over now, the contest we mean, but the boys are going to continue to fish all summer so they will have some tall stories next fall for Emmett Gillaspie.

Stock Market Gains Ground

Leaders Are Up 1 To 2 Points At Mixed Opening Today, Some Profit-Taking

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, June 7.—The stock market gained further ground today. Leaders were up 1 to more than 2 points after a mixed opening, but gains were later pared by light profit-taking later in the forenoon.

Bethlehem stood out in a strong steel section with an extreme rise of 2¼ points, while U. S. Steel, National, Crucible and Youngstown Sheet & Tube each climbed better than a point before realizing set in.

The group was favored by a budget of favorable news on the industry, including mounting operations at the principal steel producing centers and large orders from France for shell steel.

American Telephone, and Douglas Aircraft were among the issues to chalk up gains of 2 or more. Scores of representative stocks rose a point or more, including Chrysler, Westinghouse Electric, International Nickel, DuPont, Owens-Ill. Glass, Celanese, North American Aviation, Glenn L. Martin, United Aircraft, Texas Corp, and Standard Oil of N. J.

A few lagged, U. S. Gypsum slipping almost a point to a new 1940 low for the second day in a row. American Tobacco "B" gave up a half-point before meeting support.

Backing Up Mussolini's Threat of War

Le Havre, Nazi Air Objective

For three hours German aircraft are reported to have rained high explosive bombs in the vicinity of Le Havre (above), French channel port. It was one of many French cities to suffer severe Nazi bombing in intensification of aerial war. (Central Press)

An electrified fence was put up at the South African National Park, Addo, to keep elephants from straying. The elephants found that though the wires were charged, the supports were not, so they uprooted the poles and walked over. When the poles were later electrified, the elephants discovered that only 10 miles of the 30-mile boundary were fenced, so they walked to the end of the electrified portion and stepped out.
